STRANGER THAN FICTION

There's no room for doubt that a Munich beer cellar was partly wrecked by an explosion the night of Nev. 8 and that Adolf Hitler had left it only a few minutes before the explosion. Arrest of various persons charged with complicity in the crime of trying to assassinate the German chancellor and of killing a number of minor officials leaves room for nothing else but doubt.

It may be true that Germany's secret police are solving the case. Perhaps the British intelligence test and very exciting. service had something to do with it. Possibly a man named Strasser organized a bombing plot. But this is war time, and the country concerned is Germany. which is in the hands of a political regime that boasts of its ability to fool all the people all the Hard fact of the Munich beer cellar explosion mystery is that no matter what is done about it, nothing can be accomplished toward closing the case as far as the world outside Germany is concerned. There is nothing in the record to establish the good faith of the German police. There is nothing in the record at all, except abundant evidence of a doctrine of violence and deceit being grimly pursued to the bitter end. If Germany's purpose be to annihilate confidence and destroy faith, it has suc-

BRITANNIA RULES THE WAVES

Consternation among neutrals over the order to tighten the blockade against Germany by nipping off its exports can't be expected to ruffle the British lion-much. Britannia hasn't toiled all these years to rule the waves only to be deterred at the climax by protests from innocent bystanders.

The only practical view to take of the war is that Great Britain intends to win it at any cost. So does Germany. So does France. The naval blockade being the means of combat most important at the moment, puts Britain in the center of the stage. It is the thing Germany needs to fear most. The Brit-

It starved Germans into submission in the World war. The British intend to repeat that in the new war. It offended neutrals then and will offend them now. It was probably the most inhumane thing used to fight the war of 25 years ago and in all likelihood still deserves that rating. It is war against civilians at its worst.

The single thing about it that excuses it is realization, shared by neutrals, that if the tables were turned Germany would be as relentless as the British are going to be. The pot can't call the kettle

Arctic explorers have raved about the sun's reappearance at the end of continuous night. It indicate that overcast weather acts as a direct stimulus in one-day doses. The First Lesson

Regarding a student's first instruction, Miller says he takes him up, shows him a little about the action of the controls, and then turns the ship over to Of course, a dual set of controls enables the instructor to take over if the student does anything drastically out of order.

Miller points out that part of the increasing popularity of flying is due to the rapidly decreasing cost of instruction and the great-er commercial employment of Westinghouse Mfg. __1133/8 1131/2 and travel.

A source of great pride to the fliers at the field is a trophy won WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 - The by the group which flew five planes lots' convention in October, 1938. The trophy was awarded the Miller field fliers by the Indianapolis

Tobacco Growers Vote For Strict Marketing Quota for 1940

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 - The administration's crop control program—a potential issue in next year's Presidential campaign—has marked up its second farmer referendum victory of the fall.

Reversing a stand they took a ago, growers voted overwhelmmgly for strict marketing quotas on their 1940 burley tobacco crop. Virtually complete returns gave 87.148 votes for quotas and 16,289 against—a favorable majority of 84 per cent. Quotas must be approved by two-thirds of the farmers

In October, growers of flue-cured tobacco approved marketing con-trols under which the federal govhow much he can sell. Those sell-ing in excess of their quotas would liable to a penalty tax of 10 cents a pound.

Obviously pleased with these returns, federal farm officials pre-dicted victory in a third and more important referendum Dec. 9. The nation's 2,500,000 cotton growers then will be asked to approve, for the third consecutive year, marketing quotas on the south's big cash

Victory For F. D. R.

Advocates said that with victory in the cotton election, there should be no difficulty in winning en-dorsement of the Roosevelt farm policies at the Democratic national convention next summer.

The Roosevelt administration was reported to be ready to counter Republican bids for farm belt support with an active campaign in behalf of its agricultural aid pro-

Secretary Wallace is expected to take the lead in a speech soon be-fore the Farm Bureau Federation at Chicago. There were indica-tions he wou'd disclose at that time the nature of any farm measures which the administration will lay before the 1940 Congress.

Wallace reversed the usual pro-edure yesterday to visit Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) at the latter's office for lengthy conference.

The secretary told reporters afterward that he and Norris had discussed "agriculture and politics", observing that it seemed almost impossible at times to divorce the

Gentlemen Stop This Guessing!

There is much talk about tremendous price rises in both woolen and cotton wearing apparel-It is true that there has been a rise in woolens as high as 75c a yard and some cotton piece goods have gone up 20%, and leathers are up over 30%, however, we ar using this space to put before you our policy for the months to come. All of our Fall and Winter merchandise is IN and PAID FOR. Due to early summer purchases we were able to buy practically everything at the same prices as the preceding year, and in some instances for less money.

To carry out our Statement, we are printing below NATIONALLY ADVERTISED MER-CHANDISE which we take pride in selling with last year's price and this year's price as comparison.

In conclusion, Gentlemen, BUY NATIONALLY ADVERTISED MERCHANDISE, merchandise you see before you daily in every magazine and newspaper — merchandise that you know will be made right by the dealer or the manufacturer. In plain English — Don't buy a cat in a bag!

So, Gentlemen, STOP YOUR GUESSING!! Come in and see us and we assure you that whether you come in tomorrow or the last day in December, the price will not have gone up on anything.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov.-The bugaoo of the high cost of living took drubbing as a report stated that he average monthly paycheck to iay is $4 higher than a year ago while expenses are about the same jump in the monthly food bill of the average American family short y after the outbreak of the war. The study further showed a slower increase in clothing, house furnishings and other items of the family budget while food prices have since eased off. These raises, however, have been mainly offset by sharp reductions which occurred prior to the war's start, leaving general household and living expenses about what they were in the autumn of 1938. ## Getting Drunk for Science

Richard S. Kaplan, president of the Gary, Ind., Safety Council, gets drunk, to demonstrate efficiency of the drunk-o-meter. Top, he takes his first drink of straight whisky. Center, after four one-ounce shots in tenminutes, he sees the world through rose-colored glasses. Bottom, after an hour he blows into the drunk-o-meter balloon. Tests of the air showed his blood contained .164 per cent of alcohol, .014 per cent more than allowed by law. Kaplan agreed he was too drunk to drive, although he still could walk a straight line. Kaplan is a teetotaler.

Colorado's Ice Sheets Are Found To Be Gradually Receding

(By United Press) DENVER.—It may not be for several hundred years, but some day the state of Colorado is going to be entirely devoid of glaciers, according to expert prediction.
Officials of Rocky Mountain National park, an expansive area high in Colorado's Rockies above Denver in which two enormous glaciers have existed for some 30,-000 years, have found that the ice fields have receded a small amount since 1932.

They took advantage of what they termed "comparatively new science" advanced by the American Geophysical Union involving glacier study and measurement Gradual Shifting

It was learned, the officers said, that the mighty Tyndall glacier, located between Flat-top mountain and towering Hallett peak near Estes Park village, has receded 74 feet eight inches during the last seven years. The recession might have been greater, it was said, if the exceptionally heavy snowfall of 1937 had not allowed the ice body
